The Herd Racing Foundation

The Herd Racing Foundation is the non-profit charitable arm of Herd Racing, LLC. The Foundation's mission is to provide financial support for individuals, organizations and other groups whose efforts promote the introduction of faith, establishment of family values and the development of responsible character in West Virginia's children and teens.

The Herd Racing Foundation has applied for Internal Revenue Service 501 © (3) tax-exempt status as a not for profit charitable giving organization. This status, once granted by the IRS, will allow all charitable gifts to the Foundation to become tax deductible.

The primary source of funding for The Herd Racing Foundation is Herd Racing, LLC. Herd Racing, a NASCAR-sanctioned Nationwide Series race team, pledges 10 percent of its weekly race winnings to the Foundation as a charitable tithe.

These funds are then distributed by The Herd Racing Foundation to individuals, organizations and groups which meet the Foundation's eligibility criteria for funding.

Each year The Herd Racing Foundation chooses an outreach partner for which it provides significant financial support in an effort to make a longstanding difference in that particular area of need.

The Foundation's 2008 outreach partner is the Fellowship of Christian Athletes to which the Foundation will donate $1,000 for each race that Herd Racing participates in. This designation could amount to as much as $35,000 over the 35-race NASCAR Nationwide Series racing season.

The funding will be used by the Huntington Area Fellowship of Christian Athletes Chapter to provide Bibles and other faith-based learning materials and growth opportunities to area middle school, high school and college students.
